A Long Short...

This year's Trail salutes the abounding life and real people of New Providence High. The Green and Gold came alive in '81 to bring out the true spirit of the fighting Pioneer. The school experienced a rebirth of spirit and a fresh sense of pride. The 1980-81 year saw this pride and spirit in over 35 organizations, 27 athletic teams, 2 play productions and countless dances, parties, and dates. The Pioneers also came alive outside of the classroom at PTSA and Board of Education Meetings, Vandalism Prevention Committee, the Presidential Classroom, religious youth groups, community service organizations, and various jobs in local businesses. Most importantly students performed in the classroom. Five Merit Scholarship finalists and an academically impressive National Honor Society attested to the high educational standards of Pioneer scholars. A very talented Performing and Visual Arts Society kept the fine arts alive and well at N.P.H.S. Soon Graduates will be reaching their goals in some of the finest Universities and careers across America. They will take with them the pride and spirit of the Green and Gold and make it come alive in their new environments.

Looking Back

First McKuen

There is no single way

in time

within the life

I've so far lived

that I'd have changed or altered.

Possibly there are some days

I could have missed

and never missed,

but I suspect that I could not have come down to this place

a different way

As I suspect that being here

I don't as yet know where I am.

Remember . . . The Junior Prom 1980

The Class of '81

Officers Paul Clarke, Charlie White, Jim DiRienzo, Sue Mirrer.

Another year is over, bringing high school to a close for the Class of '81. New experiences and challenges lie ahead, but the seniors will carry with them memories of their years at New Providence High. The Graduates are proud to have as their officers: Charlie White-President; Sue Mirrer-Vice-President; Jim DiRienzo-Secretary and Paul Clarke-Treasurer. From their first year in high school, members of the graduating class have established a reputation as a class that could get things done and have set a standard that others classes will strive to match. Their school spirit and enthusiasm was visible in their Thanksgiving Float, Senior hall and successful fund raisers such as candy and pretzel sales. The profits helped to support graduation, the prom and other senior activities. The class leaves behind an enviable record in both athletics and scholastics due to the competitive instincts and determination of many seniors. Other members contributed their talents in the areas of art and music. In fact, all worked diligently to give the class a good name. In the future the class of 1981 will head in new directions, but no one can deny they leave behind a trail of success.

Each day NPHS students share their ideas and broadcast their opinions to friends, family and faculty members, but it appears that one senior consistently captures the largest audience. His name is John Simpson and he can be heard on WBRD in Sommerville and WERA in Plainfield. On the surface, it seems unusual for a high school student to be a disc jockey, but considering the role that music plays in the lives of teenagers, John is a logical candidate. The story of how John got started in the business is a case of purely being in the right place at the right time. As a sophomore in the state of Wyoming, John walked into KRAL looking for extra cash and expecting to clean up or run errands. It just so happened that they were looking for some new people and John was discovered when someone heard his voice and decided to put him on the air. He started as a substitute and continued to work part time when he moved to New Jersey. Since WBRD and WERA operate only from sunrise to sunset, John's time is limited during the school year. It is during the summer that he gets the most air time and experience. John has passed his FCC exam and holds a third class commercial radio license. He is familiar with the regulations governing radio and the basic technology that keeps the station running. Although John admits his job is generally the same from day to day, certain events have caused him to use quick thinking and follow directions closely. John's experiences are certainly unusual, but he will undoubtedly find them invaluable in future life for he plans to study architecture, a field demanding creativity.

Seniors in Action

While most NPHS students could be found practicing parallel parking, Suzanne Stashluk executed take offs and landings in a Cessna 152 in preparation for her private pilot's license. Sue felt a curiosity for flying in her sophomore year and decided to take a test ride. She was fascinated by aviation and has been flying at Morristown Airport for over a year. Sue made incredible progress in that time. Sue soloed after five months, passed her Federal Aviation Association Exam not long after, and obtained approval to carry passengers. She studied weather, regulations, and emergency procedures, as well as the principles of aeronautics. Also, Sue learned how to calculate speed, altitude, and distance for a trip. Her education was put to the test when she flew to Cape May, Harrisburg, and Danbury, among other cities. Sue admits that it has been difficult to keep up her grades and continue her lessons, but this is more than a hobby for her. All the time, money and effort she invested will pay off when she enters college as a aviation major. Sue considers herself lucky in that she has found a field that she enjoys. She hopes to pursue a career as a professional pilot.

Graduating with all the athletes who have competed at N.P.H.S. is one outstanding senior whose skill is demonstrated not on a field or court, but on a rink of ice. The skater is Karen Kohler and her talent is the result of dedication and sacrifice. Karen has taken lessons for over 10 years and has been fortunate enough to study under several experienced skaters including an Olympic Bronze Medalist. As a member of the Essex Skating Club, state champions, Karen travelled to Massachusetts, Ohio and Canada, where the team showed its winning strength. She also performed at the 1978 Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony in Rockefeller Center, and in Superskates in Madison Square Garden to raise money for our Olympic team. Karen specializes in two varieties of skating. The first is ice dancing where the emphasis is on footwork to music. The other is precision skating where Karen executes kick lines and pinwheels with 15 other girls. To achieve perfection, Karen spends many mornings and evenings at South Mountain Arena and continues to practice in the summer months. She admits there have been problems in her skating career, ranging from losing a blade to suffering a concussion, but it is obvious that nothing will stop her because she admits "I could never give it up . . . it's a part of my life."

SPORTS

The 1980 Pioneer football team under the coaching of Frank Bottone and his veteran staff silenced its preseason critics by completing a 7-3 season and gaining a share of the Suburban Conference title. A Thanksgiving Day loss to Summit prevented the young squad from sole possession of the title.

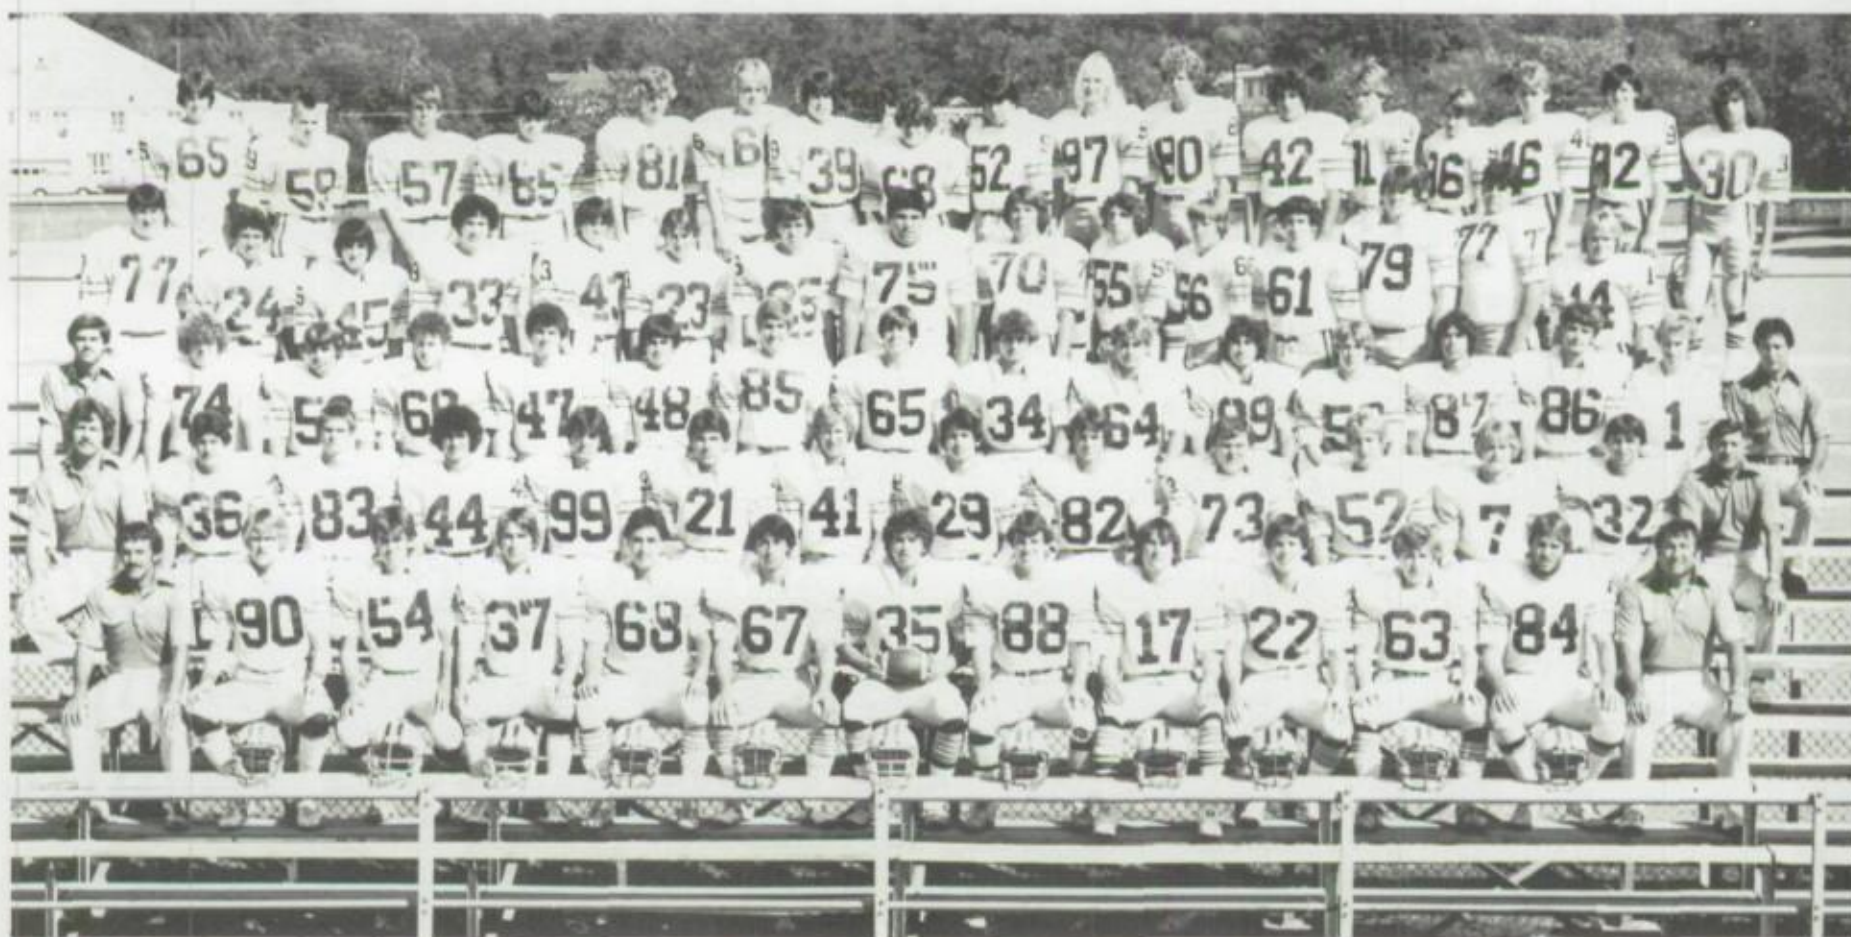

Among the highlights of the season was a victory over rival Madison at the Dodgers home field, the first Pioneer victory there since 1976. Other high points were victories over Caldwell and Springfield.

Senior halfback Mike Romeo accounted for over 80 percent of the team's total offense and also was a standout on the stingy defense that ranked among the best in Union County. Other defensive leaders included ends Andersen and Kliesch, linemen Coviello, DiRienzo and Mezzacca and safety Gelmine.

Next year promises to be successful as eleven starters return many in key positions. But this year's squad possessed a certain unique character that will not return in the same form. It is a character that overcame preseason pessimism to reach what was thought an unattainable goal, champion.

The defending Suburban Conference Champion Pioneer booters faced a major rebuilding campaign this year. Only two players, co-captains Stash Rzegocki and Erik Van Slyke, returned from last year's Varsity squad. However, Coach Kahn did his best to field a competitive New Providence team.

Only faulted by inexperience, there were several players who displayed outstanding ability throughout the season. Junior Jim Lemons proved to be a valuable asset both on offensive and defensive positions. Junior Mike Brenn also gave the Pioneers support at fullback as well as halfback. John McCarthy, Rob North and Rob Lachenauer, juniors, Fred Gaghan and Jim Dean, sophomores and freshman Anthony Clapcich were all major contributors who will be returning next year to compete as a tougher, more experienced squad.

This year's varisty team, coached by Robert Auble, boasted its strongest offense ever, scoring more than eighty goals, nearly twice as many as last year. Senior co-captain Sheryl Wood led the team with about 40 goals. The offense included senior wings Beth Fields and Lin Shiau, juniors Mariah Vignali and Ellen Lederman and sophomore Kim Rogers who moved up from J.V. when senior co-captain Lisa Seippel found she was unable to play for health reasons. Halfbacks included seniors Dana Colligan and Lynn Frain, juniors Salli Wood and co-captain Kim Cross. The defense backed by junior Stacey Brunson was composed of seniors Dottie Englick and Pam Pierce, juniors Holly Sewell, Mary McLaughlin, Liz Landsittel and sophomore Maureen Flynn who moved up from J.V. when Liz was hurt. At one point during the season the team was ranked seventh in the state by the Star Ledger.

Due to graduation, many players will be missed, but the J.V. squad will help fill these places and move on to another winning season.

After an off-season last year, the boys' cross-country team returned to its usual form this year as it swept through most of its opponents. They placed third in the Union County Tournament as well as a second place finish in the Suburban Conference meet. The varsity squad was dominated by seniors Chris McCartie, Dave Slider, Doug Palmer and Dave Bishof which will leave Coach Peterson a lot of work next year.

The girls' cross-country team tripled the number of wins from last year. Great help came from sophomore Jeanette McWhan who came in first in almost every race she ran in. Only two seniors will be lost by graduation, Dawn VanderWal and Loretta Lynsky, which means next year's team will be hard to beat.

Gymnastics

After a successful season the year before, the gymnastics team was hurt by the loss of several important performers of the previous year. Senior Laura Chasek, however, stood out in her third year of competition as she led the team achievements. She placed 2nd all-round in the first ever Suburban Conference gymnastics meet, 1st all-round in the Union County Tournament and a 4th place finish in the floor exercise during the State Tournament. Laura and junior Gina Grinnell were co-captains of a squad which was dominated by sophomores. Foremost among those sophomores were Kelley Cody, Doris Ammenworth, Karen Ageson, and Christie Martin. Freshman Karen Longo proved to be a surprisingly strong performer.

As for next year, Grinnell, Longo, and several of the mentioned sophomores should lead the squad against its usually strong schedule.

Tennis

The girls' tennis team displayed a vast improvement over the squads of previous years in its competitiveness. Overall, the team boasted three experienced singles players and young doubles teams. Junior Peggy Keane occupied the first singles slot for the team, while senior Ann Loan and sophomore Linda Burke rounded out the singles trio. Keane's ability to win close matches and Loan's advantage in experience over many of her opponents, along with Burke's athletic abilities helped the squad to win several close matches. Sophomore Juli Bollman and freshman Kelly Scott formed one of the doubles teams until Bollman got hurt. Junior Jenny Pierce and sophomore Sharon Pivik occupied the other doubles slot.

With only Loan graduating, the team could be even stronger next year with Keane and Burke emerging as the expected leaders. Pierce, Pivik, Bollman and Scott, along with freshman Polian Ong, should round out the varsity squad next year.

Second year coach C.J. Lallis was faced with one great problem, how to replace the top three scorers from last year. He had much difficulty in providing the needed firepower and subsequently the team suffered. Senior center Mark Kliesch was among the top scorers in the county for the season and handled most of the team's rebounding. Senior Mike Galloway started the year slowly as he was hit by injuries and sickness, but when he was healthy he helped Kliesch both offensively and defensively. Seniors Paul Clarke, Mike Romeo, and Steve Gelmine all played regularly in the backcourt, with Clarke starting at point guard for the whole season. Romeo also moved down to forward occasionally where he provided rebounding help. Junior Tom Robertson and sophomore Bob Burke were the top underclassmen. Burke started some games and always contributed if coming off the bench. Other underclassmen who saw playing time included juniors Dave Trindell, Rob Lachenauer, and Pete Thomson. Next year Lallis will look for several people to pick up the scoring slack which the absence of Kliesch will bring about.

The main goal for the girls' basketball team was to repeat as the Suburban Conference champions. Along the way this year Coach Bob Kahn's squad won its third straight New Providence Christmas Tournament title. The team was more experienced than the previous year with four seniors, Lin Shiau and Sheryl Wood (both guards), and forwards Ann Loan and Lisa Schulz, in the starting line-up. Loan and Schulz were the best shooters and top scorers on the club, and both did their share of rebounding. Shiau was the point guard and Wood was one of the team's better defensive players. The starting center spot was occupied by junior Diane VanderWal, who was much smoother on offense this year in comparison to earlier seasons.

Coach Kahn used his bench sparingly and sophomore Janice Higgins was the most frequently used substitute. In looking to next year, Kahn will probably have a very young and relatively inexperienced team. This year's junior varsity, however, was extremely successful and will probably provide Kahn with some talent to work with.

The Wrestling team attempted to break three years of losing seasons this winter. Through the early part of the season, Coach Phil Esposito's squad looked to be well on its way to achieving that goal. The team was strongest in the lowest weight classes, with sophmores Dave Monize (101 lbs.) and Steve Nobbs (115 lbs.), and freshman Dean Cross (100 lbs.) all winning consistently. Glenn Chafetz, one of only two seniors on the team, fluctuated between 122 and 129 lbs. and managed to win in both spots. Mike Coviello was the other senior member and stayed at 188lbs. for the season. Bob Jannelli (148 lbs.), Jim Halpin (158 lbs.), and Junior Doug Pastore (170 lbs.) were key performers in determining the team's success. The middle weights of 135 and 141 lbs. were occupied by various people because of the competition between several wrestlers.

Coach Rod Peterson could not expect too much from this year's bowling squad. This was in view of the fact that his team had no varsity bowling experience whatsoever, which is quite unusual for any sport. The team's lack of experience showed as it had much difficulty with the Suburban Conference schedule.

Those experience problems should be remedied next year as Peterson had four underclassmen on this year's squad. The three seniors were Marc Sibilila, Dave Slider, and Steve Turner. There were three juniors and alone sophomore, Ajoy Ghosh, who comprised the rest of the team. The juniors included Ron Hook, Steve Higgins, and Dean Venezia. Peterson commented that these four underclassmen gained the experience necessary to field a better team next year.

This year's team was characterized by its hard work, team spirit, and balance. Although the team's record was not as good as in past years, Coach Hank Buntin's squad showed continual improvement as it lowered its times in every succeeding meet. Early in the season, the team took third place in the St. Peter's High School Relay Championships.

According to coach Buntin, there were several contributing factors to the team's poor record. The foremost was the tough schedule which the team went through. That list included Governor Livingston, Summit, Westfield, Watchung Hills, and Union Catholic. Another factor was the lack of year round swimmers on the team. Since swimming is such a grueling sport physically, it is difficult to perform at peak level on two or three practices a week.

Coach Buntin had difficulty in picking out any stars on the team, but he could single out Senior captain Anne Sawicki, senior Dana Colligan, sophomore Jenny Loan, and freshman Gwen Horan as the team leaders. He also pointed to sophomore Gail Watson and sisters Kyle and Karen Ledebuhr as people who were always dependable for good efforts.

If Buntin can get more of his swimmers to train year-round, the fortunes of future teams could be improved.

Pitching and defense were major factors for any success of the Softball Team as it looked to improve upon last year's record of 8-12. Second year Coach John Lallis relied on the strong arms of senior Daryl Kern and sophomore Juli Bollman to give the squad consistency on the mound. Kern played on the varsity for the fourth straight year. The team was largely a veteran club as its early season starting lineup featured four seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. All these players were experienced as only two players last seasons team graduated. Senior Lin Shiau led off in the lineup, and junior Kim Cross, Daryl Kern, senior catcher Sheryl Wood, and senior Linda Semancik followed in that order. Semancik joined Kern as a four-year varsity performer. Juniors Janine Seippel and Holly Sewell, sophomore Janice Higgins, and junior Melanie Pullen rounded out the starting squad. When Bollman pitched, she found her way into the lineup.

The strength of veteran Coach Paul Miller's baseball team this year was right up the middle-catcher, pitcher, shortstop, and centerfield. Those were the four positions that seniors Jim DiRienzo, Steve Gelmine, Paul Clarke, and Mike Romeo inhabited respectively. For DiRienzo and Romeo, however, these were new positions. DiRienzo moved from third base to catcher to fill the hole left at that important position by Steve Skrabal. Romeo, who was an All-State group 2 first baseman as a junior, moved to centerfield to lead a re-vamped outfield. Gelmine looked to live up to great expectations projected for him after his outstanding sophomore season and to rebound from an elbow injury which hampered his effectiveness last year. Clarke was starting for the third year in a row and combined with either junior Dave Roche or senior Joe Disarno to form the club's double-play combination. Senior Mike Galloway occupied third base. The team as a whole looked to overcome the second-place finishes which characterized the squad the previous year, when it finished second in the Union County Tournament and second in the Suburban Conference race.

Girl's Track was still in its early stages as a varsity program this year and therefore opened the way for great advancement in performance. Contrary to the boy's team this squad was very young. While the team won only a few meets in its initial season, it was expected that the club could rise to a 500 level this year. Several individuals had already distinguished themselves before the season began, including junior Aimie Wilson, who held the sprint and long jump records going into the campaign, and distance runners Jeanette McWhan, Loretta Lynskey, and Caroline Hogle. Lynskey was the only senior in that latter trio and McWhan had already proven herself in competition as a freshman. Coach Peterson chose Christine Lotze, a performer in the javelin, and senior Anne Sawicki in the shot put and discus as keys to overall success. Peterson also expected good things from freshmen newcomer Caroline McCartie in both the long jump and the high jump.

Coach Elrod Peterson fielded a veteran squad this season in an attempt to improve upon the 8-3 mark of the previous years team. Even though the team's top performers were mostly juniors and seniors with experience, several key spots were open as the season began. The biggest hole was occupied by the mile relay, which was one of the team's most successful events over the past two years. Seniors Jeff Wieland, Tom Marta, and Erik Van Slyke, and juniors Steve Sola and Steve Anderson were given the responsibility of performing in that event. Marta and Anderson were also counted on heavily for points in the spring competitions. As the season began Coach Peterson saw shot putter John Bedrosian, Pole vaulter Jim Lemmons, and distance runners Alan Tanquary, Dave Slider, and Chris McCartie as the top performers on the squad. Bedrosian, a senior, looked to improve upon the efforts which left him just short in post-season competition his junior year. Lemmons will return for his final season next year, Tanquary, Slider, and McCartie were the backbone of the highly-successful Cross Country squad in the fall and hoped to make their senior seasons in Track equally successful. Seniors Charlie White (javelin) and Keith Evans (discus) were other key performers.

Coach Bruce Coultas hoped to mold another winning golf team this spring. Two years ago his team won the Suburban Conference title, which is quite an accomplishment considering the strength of the conference. Graduation has taken its toll on the squad however, and none of the key members from that championship team or last year's squad remain. Coultas looked to replace graduated performers, Jeff Cross, Jeff Christensen, and T.J. Deutz. The two top returners were junior Gordon Connelly and sophomore Mike Moreland.

Heading into the season, the varsity girl's Volleyball program has established itself as top-notch in a few short years. This season's edition of the team hoped to continue that tradition of excellence by staying among the state's top ten teams. Several key performers from last year's squad, including captain Terry Zollner was missing from this year's lineup because of graduation. Returners for Coach Art Cattano included senior Dotti Englick and junior Diane Vander Wal, both of whose height gave obvious help to the team. Even though the team played a schedule of tough teams, more success was looked for as the campaign began.

The season began unusually for the boy's Tennis team as no players were cut from the squad for the first time in years, since only twelve players tried out. Many new faces were about to replace four of the top eight players from last year who either graduated or did not return. The four most familiar players were seniors Dan Flack and Mike Keane, junior Mar Guetscher, and sophomore Bob Burke. Flack occupied the number 1 position as a junior and looked to make his fourth year of varsity competition his strongest. Keane, Guetscher, and Burke figured to battle for the two remaining singles spots on second year Coach John Dellacano's squad. The doubles combinations were not set because of the influx of many freshmen on the team. Recognizable first year performers were Tom McCarthy and Kurt Werder, both of whom have brothers who performed for the team in the past.

ACTIVITIES

Comedy, mystery, farce, and madcap! were a few of the words used by the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" to characterize the fall play. The plot followed the misadventures of two deceptively sweet old ladies, played by Maria Russomano and Julie Tiernan, who considered it a kind turn to put old people out of their misery by killing them. The cast, many of whom have gained valuable experience in other productions both inside and outside of the high school, played an intriguing diversity of characters: policemen Eric Ort, Chris Pribula, Dave Stambaugh, and Bill Mitreuter; a clergyman Gregg Howarth; a doctor Chris Sibilia; insane nephews Jeff Judd and John Suter; a very sane romantic Dave Jeffery; and even a cadaver Matt Bonus. Cathy Liles, Dave Dixon, and Jeanne Collins completed the fifteen member cast. Of course, any fall play would not be possible without the behind-the-scenes expertise of director Jack Gardner, set designer Barry Mansfield, and countless student and teacher production assistants whose efforts made the two November performances engaging for all.

In a candlelight ceremony, the French National Honor Society inducted outstanding students who demonstrated scholastic abilities and unique qualities. Together, the members had the opportunity to broaden their knowledge of the French language and way of life. The delicious crepe sales funded activities such as field trips to New York to enjoy French food and films. The combination of dedicated advisors, Mr. Smith and Mrs. Handler, and hard-working officers enabled the Society to enjoy a very successful year.

The Spanish Honor Society is composed of students chosen for their achievement and interest in the language. The objectives of the society are to help make the members more aware of Spanish culture and to encourage mastery of the language. So far this year, the society has had its induction, featuring a buffet of Hispanic foods. Other major activities are the M & M sale and the annual trip to New York to see a Hispanic- oriented play.

Viva, Lebendig,

The language clubs here at the high school provide students with the opportunity to learn more about the particular language they are studying and to conduct activities which would not be done in a classroom. This year the German, French and Latin clubs hope to do the above. So far, the German club has had a Christmas party and sold a popular item, gummy bears. The French club is new this year and the Latin club was formed last year with the reinstating of Latin as a foreign language. This year, the Latin club has had a Roman banquet and is planning a Saturnalia and other traditional Roman functions. Hopefully, these clubs will continue giving students extra cultural experience in years to come.

Although the American Field Service Club did not sponsor a foreign student this year, it was by no means inactive. Members attended the United Nations Day program at the YWCA in Summit and had short term exchanges with another high school in the spring. They also participated in the annual exchange of ten or twelve students with schools in other states. To support its numerous activities, this club, which serves the purpose of providing students with the opportunity to live in other communities, to experience different cultures and to meet new people, used the New Providence Recycling Center as a regular source of income.

Participation In The

This year's One-to-One Club's schedule was filled with more activities than in years gone by. Under the leadership of R. Karl Garcia, the club's president and R.R.N.P. Trustee, Vice-President Mike Wehrle, Secretary Jeanne Polloni, Treasurer Ann Wiczorek, and Mr. William Goetz as the club's advisor, the club's calendar was filled with more community activities than ever before. In addition to the annual fund raiser, the "Hoop and Hustle" basketball and dance marathon, the club members participated in the annual Christmas party for the mentally retarded children in the area sponsored by the N.J. Association for Mentally Retarded Citizens. Many of the members sang Christmas carols for the event, while Karl and Mike blew up helium balloons for the children. The club members also spent one day a week working with the abused and neglected children at the John E. Runnels Child Care Shelter. Also, an Easter party was sponsored for the mentally retarded children and, subsequently, an enjoyable spring picnic was held for the children at the shelter. The club members also took pride this year in putting together an awareness program which took place in the high school and throughout the community. This program aided in the battles against Child Abuse, Drug and Alcohol Abuse, discrimination against the handicapped and to help the Runaway Teens. One-to-One also enjoyed the annual activities such as bake sales, Christmas caroling, working at the Recycling Center, listening to guest speakers, and taking part in the Hand to Hand Festival.

"Brave New World"

Have you heard strange noises coming from the library? Don't worry, no space creatures have invaded our library, just one big scanner creature! This is one piece of equipment the members of the library club must work with every day. The library club has many functions. The club's first responsibility is opening the library promptly at 7:45 A.M. Once the library is open, the members help New Providence students by shelving books and checking books out. The officers of this club plan the book-and-bake sales and field trips, such as the trip to the Morris Museum of Arts and Sciences. A major event was the decoration of the library at Christmas time. Another major event was the annual picnic. The club is quite busy but whether they are checking out books or planning a picnic, the library club always finds time to help students.

Student Services:

Cooperation and assistance are two words that sum up the purpose of the Student Service Organization. Through out the year, members volunteered their time to aid the administration. Comprised of more students than any other club in school, the S.S.O. was involved in such activities as Back to School Night, Career Day, and Graduation. Under the direction of Advisor Dr. Powers and student leaders Grace Kim and Kathy Krautter, the contributions of this club insured the success of many shcool functions.

S.S.O. And The Council

The 1980-1981 Student Council began the year with the realization of a major goal, the construction (finally) of a paved walkway between O.L.P. and the High School. The Council paid for the path in its entirety, using money we made from the "Cast" concert of last year. Because that concert was such a success, and due to a stroke of luck, we were able to contract a similar but much better group, "Beatlemagic", for this year's spring show.

In other areas, we continued the traditionally successful Halloween dance, this year held in the gym for the first time. We also continued carnation and candy cane sales and sponsored a return of the popular "Hypnotist". Politically, the student council was represented on the Vandalism and Budget Committees, as well as the Board of Education. We also found a new "Buddy Committee" designed to befriend new students to the high school, and so make their "adjustment period" easier.

The year was a busy one, and without the support of the student body in general, and the Council members in particular, it would not have been as successful as it was.

Thanks also to the committee chairpersons and the executive officers, whose capable leadership eased most of the anxieties as to "whether or not the job will get done." Finally, special thanks are in order for Colt. who year after year enthusiastically puts in just as much time as any member of student council. Thank you for making my term an enjoyable experience.

Classified Ad Anyone?

Starting its third year of free distribution made possible with the support of the Board of Education, and funding from advertisers and classified ads, serving the purpose of informing students of the happenings within the high school, and the activities of faculty and students outside of the school, this eight page paper is published monthly by the journalism students at N.P.H.S. In tune with the changing world surrounding us, the Providential has also been the object of many transformations. This three time first place winner in Columbia Scholastic Press Association Contest, has evolved from a publication full of news articles to a newspaper consisting of features, photos, and creative artwork. Keeping with the times, controversial articles on drugs, sex education and religion were printed along with the regular features such as a poetry corner, and letters to the editor. Many new policies were adopted including acceptance of student editorials and photo contributions. In November a special Homecoming section was created and in February a special section for Valentines Day, the Classified Ads were a new addition to the paper.

Once again New Providence students escaped the daily routine and took to the slopes to enjoy the excitement, fresh air and exercise of recreational skiing. The ski club held both weekend and day trips to various areas around the country including Gore Mountain, Brodie, Camelback and Vernon Valley. Thanks to president Kevin Johnston, the ski club even skied overseas during winter recess and enjoyed the view from the tops of the majestic peaks of Engelberg, Switzerland.

The Folk Club

After years of hard work distinguished Seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society at an annual ceremony. Members were selected on the basis of four qualities- academics, leadership, service and character. The Society combined their talents and offered tutors for fellow students. They raised money through the annual Volleyball marathon in which the pledges they collected were used to sponsor scholarships to Senior students. Also, members took a break from their rigorous scholastic schedules to welcome alumni home at the annual Christmas reception.

The Folk Club is an organization for students interested in music. The name may be slightly misleading, since folk is not the only type of music performed in the club's concerts. The words "folk music" sometimes scares people, since often times they think of folk as the cute little songs with no authors sung in elementary school. However the club itself holds one or two concerts a year in which music of all types is encouraged- not only folk but rock and jazz.

Members of the Racquetball club found both exercise and pleasure this year at N.P.H.S. Thanks to the contributions of experience and encouragement of Mr. Torquati and Mrs. Phillips, the club met at the Murray Hill Racquet Club once a week for practice and matches. The club reflects the growing interest in the sport of racquetball in their organized competitions and tournaments. In addition to their enjoyment, members, led by President Sue Revelj, developed their agility and coordination.

... And On The Ball

In keeping with the jogging craze accross the country, students formed a running club with advisors Mr. Peterson and Mr. Sinott whose iron hands relentlessly sent them out in the heat, cold, snow and ice. Although the club was composed primarily of cross country and track students trying to keep in shape between seasons, it was an exhilarating way for others to get out-of-doors and away from the day to day hum-drum. Students hope that in the future they can start an in-door track team for the icy months.

For six weeks out of the year, three sophomores from New Providence High School participated in the Dramatic Arts Workshop which is sponsored by the New Jersey Theatre Forum. Each day the students were transported to the theatre, which was located in Plainfield. There, through a series of activities associated with theatre production and administration, each student gained valuable experience in behind the scenes activities. The areas ranged from the construction of sets to lighting, and even included bookkeeping.

The advisors are Ms. Haness and Mr. Guadagnino. The members of the internship program receive five credits and no previous theatre experience is necessary to participate except the willingness to work.

Dimensions in Living is a course which deals with issues and skills that are necessary for survival in today's and tomorrow's society. Some of the topics covered are furnishing skills, nutritional needs, money management and the family.

While studying marriage, a branch of the family unit, students learn how to plan a wedding, including the ceremony, the guest list and the reception.

As a highlight to the marriage unit, the whole class plans a "mock" wedding, which consists of a ceremony and a reception.

Bridesmaids Jana Sasso, Sue Matheiss, Kathy Boorujy and Eileen Brett.

Mary Beth Watkins catching the bouquet.

The Bride was Cindy Madonna and the Groom was Jim Lemons. The Maid of Honor was Sue Alliston and the Best Man was Dave Hwang. The Bridesmaids were Kathy Borrujy, Eileen Brett, Sue Matheiss and Jana Sasso. The Ushers were Gordon Connelly, John McCarthy, Robert North and Philip Thorpe. Charlie White was the father of the Bride and Kecia Conti was the minister.

For the reception, a buffet was prepared by the members of the class. The Bride and Groom cut the cake together. Afterwards, the Bride tossed her bouquet which was caught by Mary Beth Watkins.

The wedding will clearly be thought of as one of the most memorable and enjoyable events that occurred for these students throughout their years at NPHS.

Model United Nations

For twenty-two NPHS students, the Model United Nations Conference provided a chance to participate in international affairs and diplomacy. At the beginning of the year, the students met and split into groups of five, each playing the role of an ambassador chosen to represent the country in the General Assembly and four other councils. Members researched political, economic and social issues and prepared to support their nation's positions. At the three-day convention in Washington D.C., students from the middle eastern states debated their topics and created proposals. For those three days, the club members had the responsibility of ignoring their feelings as Americans and representing the views of their country only. One highlight of the program was the Ambassador's Reception in which embassy officials were invited to speak with their youth delegates. A Parade of Flags and a World Peace Service also added to the sense of unity at the conference.

Kathy Krautter, Chris McCartie, Suzanne Stashluk, Karen Ondrejcek and advisor Mr. Mather discussing plans.

The members of Model U.N. this year are Lisa Coker, Daniel Dokus, Beth Fields, Eric Flanagan, Cindy Folsom, Lynn Frain, Karen Judlowe, Kathy Krautter, Ellen Lederman, Christine Lotze, Chris McCartie, Stephen Nanney, Jeanine O'Brien, Karen Ondrejcek, John Parker, Amy Sessler, Marc Sessler, Stella Shahidi, Jenny Sibley, Stephen Sola, Suzanne Stashluk, and John Suter.

This years participants in the Presidential Classroom were Seniors Art Bergh, Lin Shiou, Kathy Krautter, Karen Ondrejcek and Steve Turner.

Each Student qualified for this program based on their scores on a Social Studies test, a written essay and an interview with members of the administration.

Presidential Classroom is a special government program which gives highschool students the chance to spend a week in Washington D.C. to learn about our nations' government and political system.

While at our nations capital, the students spent the week attending seminars, touring Capital Hill, sightseeing, meeting Congressmen and even had a chance to talk with Vice-President Bush.

All five students enjoyed their trip, learned a lot about the workings of the government and feel that this is a very whorthwhile program.

Century III Leadership Scholarship

In the fall of 1980, seniors at New Providence High School were given the opportunity to compete for the Century III Leadership Scholarship.

To qualify for the award, each student was judged on the basis of an essay expressing their views as to one of the major challenges that the U.S. will face in the next century. Also, each student completed a current events test.

Arthur Bergh was chosen to represent NPHS in the state competition for the scholarship on the basis of his score on the Century III examination, his involvement in the community, and his leadership abilities.

The program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and is funded by the Shell Oil Company. The variety of scholarships offered were two $1500 scholarships, two $500 scholarships to the New Jersey winners and a $10,000 scholarship to the national winner.

National merit scholarship finalists

Five students from the senior class were named as Finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition this year. This made them eligible for Merit Scholarships, 4,700 of which were given to selected Finalists across the nation. Arthur Bergh, Dave Duttenhofer, Karen Judlowe, Marc Sibilia and John Suter achieved the Finalist status in this competition by scoring high on the PSAT examination. After being members of a larger group of commended students, they advanced to the Semifinalist level, then to Finalist, and finally to consideration for receipt of privately funded scholarships.

The Home Economics department introduced a new course called Child Care and Development. The object of the class, which is open to all grades, is to teach students the proper care of small children. Areas that are stressed are the development of a child from pre-natal stages to birth, the stages of growth that follow birth, and the nutritional needs of a growing child.

In order for the students to have first hand experience with small children, the school has opened a part-time nursery school. Two days of the week, children come to the high school. It is the job of the students to plan activities for the children which are both exciting and educational. Some of these activities are math, science, music, art, storytime and of course snacktime.

The new course has proven to be successful, with both the students and children gaining experience that will be helpful to them in their futures.

UNDERCLASSMEN

The junior class has already come alive this year due to the efforts of their capable class officers led by Janine Seippel, president; Mary Beth Watkins, vice-president; Eileen Brett, treasurer; and Sharon Yeramian, secretary. The junior class officers have shown their leadership abilities in such areas as finance, art, and athletics.

The juniors started off the year with a bang by having two successful fund-raisers. These fund-raisers were the selling of candy after school and the selling of New Providence sweatshirts after school and during the lunch periods. These fund-raisers have helped to reduce the expenses of the class future activities.

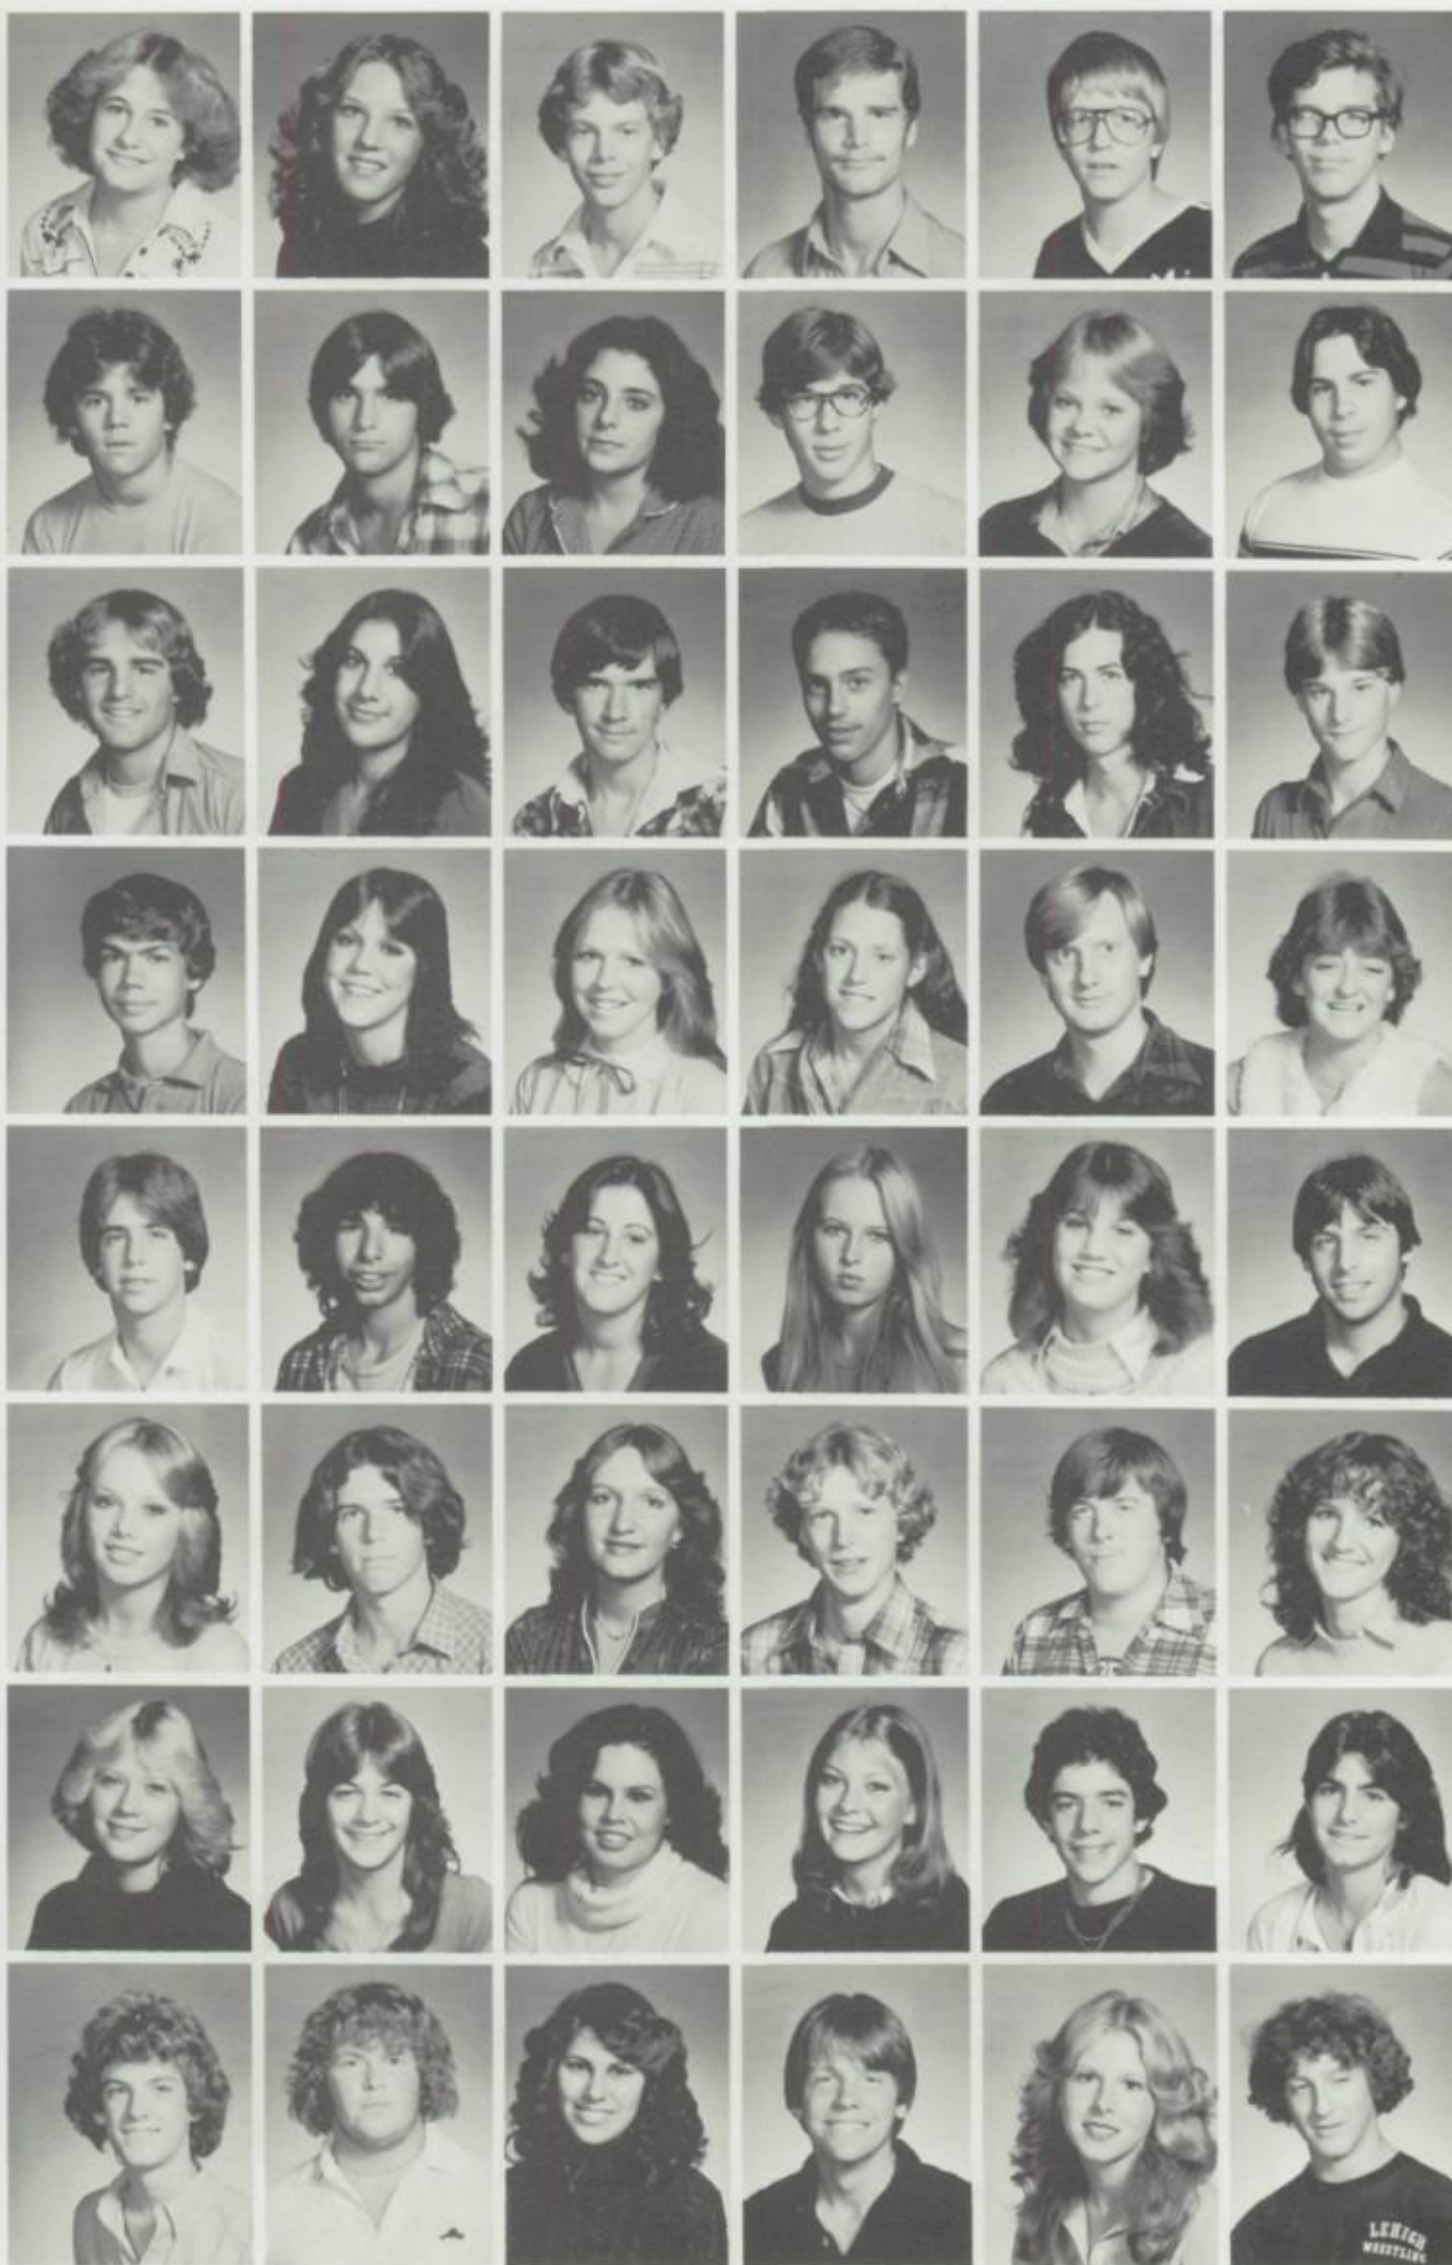

The junior class showed their strong spirit by participating in the decorating of the halls and the building of the float in the Thanksgiving Day football game. The laurels of the junior class could not be complete without congratulating the girls who won the powderpuff football game.

Last but not least. The junior class really came alive when they received their class rings.

Boosters Donate A.V. Equipment

This fall, the Audio-Visual department here at N.P.H.S. was presented with a completely portable, color video taping outfit which was donated by the New Providence High Booster Club. The package consists of: a Panasonic Omnivision II VHS portable video tape deck, a Panasonic color television camera with sound, an AC adapter, and a new Panasonic 19 inch color television. All of the equipment is reportedly the latest of their lines on the market. The tape deck and camera has a 6:1 power zoom lens with macro capabilities. "The macro focusing ability," which allows the camera to focus as close as one inch from the subject, "will be especially useful for showing proper technique in science and electronics.", said Mr. Sherman Wilner, assistant vice president of Kaltman-Bosie, Inc.; the firm from which the equipment was purchased. Mr. Wilner gave a demonstration on how to use the equipment, equipment care, and maintenance, and basic video taping techniques to Mrs. Allocco, Mrs. Huling, Mr. Torquati, and Mrs. Whitney.

The new equipment will be easier to use than the model that had been used before because while the new deck uses a cassette, the old machine used a reel-to-reel type tape. The new camera also has several features the old model was lacking, one being a standby switch which saves energy and reduces the possibility of serious camera damage when the camera is not being used.

The primary uses of the new video gear will be to record sporting events and physical education classes.

Sophomores live it up

The sophomores, this year elected Kim Rogers, president, John Libetato, vice president, Gail Watson, secretary, and Paula Gallo, treasurer. They have demonstrated a spirit which shows a unity for the class and a credit for the school. The winning of the hall contest was a first step towards a series of other accomplishments. Their victory in the powderpuff game showed that they are true competitors. Their float showed originality and creativity, and with this spirit and talent, we expect them to continue to live it up.

Freshmen begin to live

Although the freshmen are our newest addition to New Providence High School they have already displayed an eagerness to participate in the schools activities. When it came time for the freshmen to elect their officers they choose Karen Behre as president, Jimmy Schultz as vice-president, Paulian Ong as secretary, and Peter Monize as treasurer.

It is a well known fact that each year the freshmen class holds a magazine sale. This years magazine sale started the class out on its first money-making project. The class sold a total of six hundred and twenty-two dollars in subscriptions. The class is planning more fundraisers in the future. The biggest success of the freshmen class this year was the winning of the float contest at the annual Thanksgiving Day football game, Congradulations!

So from what NPHS has already witnessed, it is evident that the class of 1984 is already beginning to live.

The dignity and beauty of Oriental Rugs create an atmosphere of timeless elegance that will add grace and distinction to your home.

Learning to recognize and appreciate their numerous subtleties is part of the joy of ownership.

But it must be remembered that expert guidance is the only alternative to expensive errors.

Great Way Of Life!

The theme of a yearbook must be chosen at the beginning of the year when work first begins. A certain risk is involved since the theme might not necessarily fit the year. Such was not the case in 1981 as the theme LIVE described the year at N.P.H.S. perfectly. An intangible quality of pride and spirit characterized life at N.P.H.S. and enriched the lives of the students, faculty and administration as well as contributing in many ways to the New Providence community. Next year the results will be apparent as graduates go to make significant contributions to the lives of other individuals and to society. Underclassmen will move up to new; more responsible roles and greater academic challenges as a new class enters and becomes enveloped in Pioneer life.

As for this year, N.P.H.S. is no exception to the old rule "All good things must come to an end." The 1980- 81 year was truly unique and full of lessons and experiences the outgoing graduates can take with them. For underclassmen it is destined to become a standard by which years to come are measured.

LIVE-abounding with life, of or involving the actual presence of real people.
